

The Organ Committee, The University of Tokyo, Komaba

TOP

CONCERT INFORMATION

DISPOSITION

HISTORY

PAST CONCERTS

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

ACCESS

CONTACT US

Small is Beautiful

The University of Tokyo announces that it is the proud owner of a small but active pipe organ. This is the result of an unparalleled act of generosity on the part of Dr. Taikichiro Mori (the founder and first president of the MORI Building Company) who in 1977 donated it to the university. The organ is situated in building 900 \(the auditorium\), half hidden by the green trees of the Komaba Campus. Since its donation, it has been in regular use, in numerous free concerts bringing pleasure not only to students and staff of the University but also to many inhabitants of the neighboring areas.

 Upcoming Concerts

More

An Evening of Chamber Music

Tue 15 December 2009, 6:30 pm (Doors open at 6 pm.)

Cello: Hidemi Suzuki, Fortepiano: Chie Hirai

This concert is exclusive to students and staff at Komaba I campus and members of the Friends of Komaba. Admission free. 120 seats available, first come, first served. Reservation is required. Please fill the application form on the back and fax to 03-3465-3334. Tickets will be sent back via fax.

Sorry, we are fully booked.

